NURSING SERVICE IS PATRIOTIC WORK

Young women to undertake nurse training both for army and home service are wanted by thousands, according to a telegram from Surgeon General Gorgas received by the News this week. The call has also come to Mrs. Frank Wright, representing the women's committee of the National Council of Defense.

Full information regarding the service can be secured from the County Women's Committee at the Court House or at State Headquarters, 719 So. Hill St., Los Angeles.

The appeal from Gen Gorgas follows: "I want every young woman in the country, every woman between the ages of 19 and 35, to read carefully what I have to say and to give it earnest attention. It is a message which every girl ought to welcome because it tells of an opportunity to help the Nation, the Army, and the country, face a shortage of nurses."

The army alone will require something like twenty-five thousand nurses by the first of next January. We have secured about thirteen thousand of this number. We need twelve thousand more. We have got to have them or the army will run short and this would be an outcome incredible and intolerable to the American people.

Only graduate nurses who have been through the full course of training are available for this high service. These nurses have to be taken out of the hospitals and from care of sick at home.

This means that when we recruit our full quota for the army their places in the civil communities must be filled. Hence this call for student nurses to fill the vacancies, prepare for professional service, and meanwhile to make it possible for our hospitals, both civil and military, to carry on, and for the American people to hold the health standards of the country as high as they have ever been held in times of peace.

If I were a young woman and wanted to do my country the greatest service in my power I should go at once to the nearest recruiting station of the Women's Committee of the National Council of Defense and enroll in the United States Student Nursing Service. The enrollment would at once make me a candidate for the Army Nursing School or for one of the civilian training schools for nurses. I cannot conceive of a more valuable service or a more womanly service.

I can give every girl who enrolls in the reserve my personal assurance that she is making herself count, and I should be ashamed of any woman who did not long with all her heart and soul to make herself count in the defeat of Germany.

FOURTH LOAN FLAG DESIGN IS PROTECTED

The Fourth Liberty Loan flag has been registered and cannot be reproduced in buttons, posters, circulars or other forms of advertising without specific authorization of the Treasury department. This announcement has been sent from Washington to headquarters in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District. No restrictions were placed on the honor flag of the third loan.

MR. MAN, CAN YOU PASS MUSTER HERE?

If You Can't Fight, Here is a Chance at Another Big Job

If you can measure up to these requirements you can go to France as a Y.M.C.A. War Work Secretary:

- Good mixer.
- Over draft age.
- Not a pacifist or slacker.
- Willing to go under shell fire.
- Broad-gauged and willing to go where sent.

The call has gone out from the National War Work Council of the Y.M.C.A., for 4,000 men for overseas service before Sept. 1. These men must go to France as big brothers for the boys who have gone from their homes to fight in the great cause. The Y. M. C. A. secretary must take cheer into his life, serve him at all times and keep him fit to fight.

Frank A. Jackson, head of the bureau of personnel for the National council, with headquarters at 519 First National Bank building, San Francisco, says the need for men at this time is most urgent.

"We want men who are big enough to have a smile and a cheery word when they themselves are fagged after hours of hard service for our boys. We want men with big hearts and hard muscles, men who will go to France on a blind assignment ready to handle whatever job appears at the moment to be most important. We need natural leaders, men who are real men, good mixers and capable of exerting the proper influence."

"We don't want pacifists or slackers. Our men go under shell fire. They have been often gassed and wounded by bursting shrapnel. We need men who understand something about athletics, who can drive motor trucks. We need red blooded American men who don't know what fear is but who want to serve overseas and do something to help win this war."

PROMISING LIFE

COMES TO A CLOSE

Sidney Cornuelle, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Cornuelle of East Grand View, passed away on Wednesday morning. He had been in failing health for a long time and had grown rapidly weaker of late, so the end was not unexpected. Funeral services were conducted in the undertaking parlors of A. T. Gay this morning, Rev. Mr. Hammel of Bethany Church.

The passing of Mr. Cornuelle breaks off a life of promise just at the time when young manhood should be at its best, he being twenty-five years of age last January. He was a native of Ohio but had lived in Sierra Madre about ten years. He was an active church worker as long as his health permitted, being especially interested in Sunday School and Christian Endeavor work.

READY FOR THE WARDEN

The game warden came upon a youthful angler, and to make sure he was not disobeying the bass fishing law he pulled the boy's string of fish out of the water, finding only catfish, perch and suckers. A few yards further down stream he came upon a large black bass wriggling on a string weighed down with a stone. He confronted the boy with it.

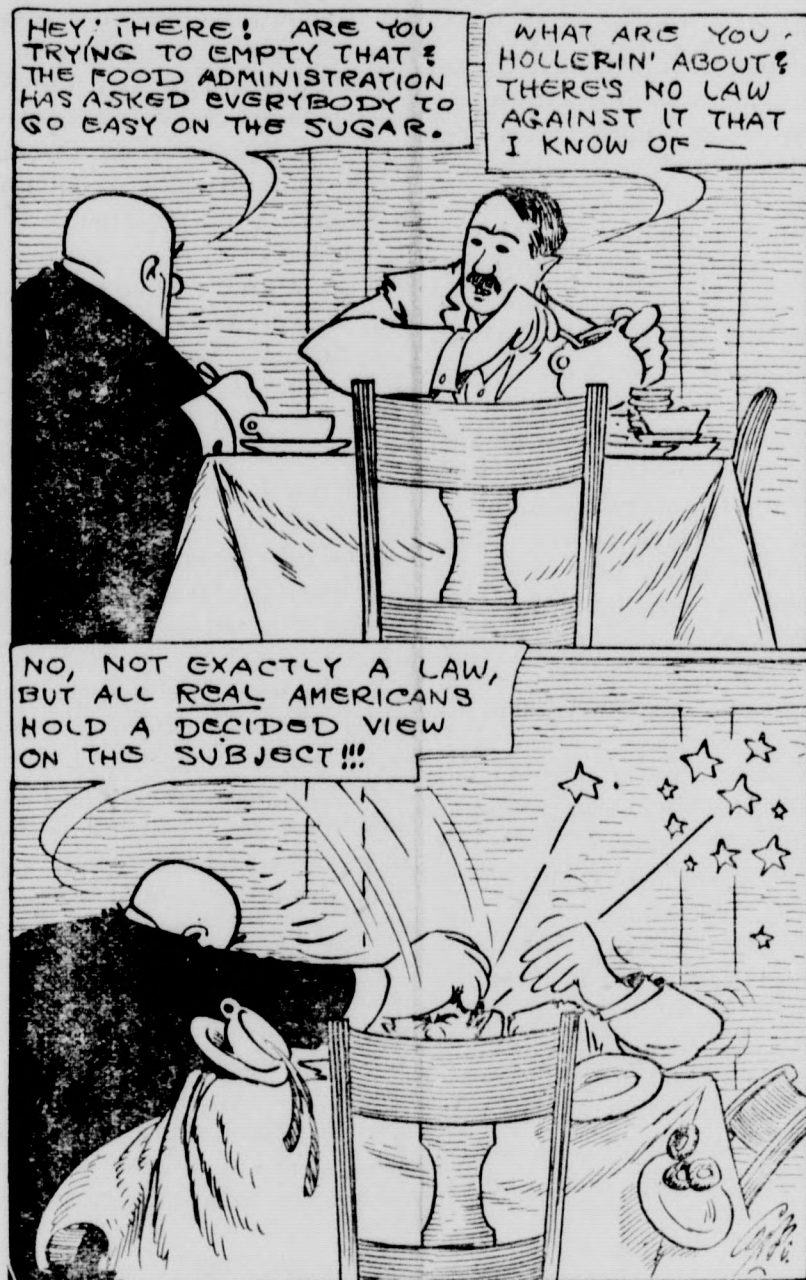

"Well, you see, sir," explained the youngster, "he's been taking my bait all the morning, so I just tied him up there until I got through fishing."—Boston Transcript.

STIMULATING

"What are you going to call your dog?" asked Bill of Smith. "I think I shall call him 'Tonic,'" was the reply. "Why?" "Because he's a mixture of bark, steal and whine."

Mrs. A. L. Rockwood and son Charles Loveday Rockwood who recently came over from Honolulu on account of the transfer of Major Rockwood to the states are accompanying Mr. and Mrs. W. J. NEWS OF THE BOYS WITH THE COLORS

Srgt. Vernon C. Miller, son of Mrs. Lulu M. Miller, has been transferred from the training camp at Gettysburg, Pa., to Tobyhanna, Pa. He is a member of the heavy tank corps and has been recommended for the officers' training course.

Word has been received of the arrival in France of Laurence B. Nourse, who was made a sergeant just before leaving Quantico, Va. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Nourse, are now on their way home from their eastern trip.

Maurice Goldberg seems likely to see service in Italy, according to press reports of the formation of new American army divisions overseas. His regiment, the 47th Infantry, was assigned to one of the divisions which is to be sent to the Italian front.

Ensign Wade Brunson visited for an hour between trains on Tuesday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brunson, while on his way from Detroit to the Naval aviation school at North Island, San Diego.

The distinction of being the first child of a soldier in the present war born in Sierra Madre belongs to Elizabeth Eileen Black, born to Mr. and Mrs. Goss K. Black, who arrived on Tuesday, July 30. Mr. Black entered the service in Indiana and is a member of the headquarters detachment of the 38th Division at Camp Shelby, Miss. Mrs. Black has for some time been with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Lilla Black of East Grand View Ave.

Victor Hill came over from March Field to spend the week end at home. He had as a guest Corporal Haley.

Mrs. E. L. Yerxa entertained the knitting club on Wednesday.

NEW PAPER RULE CUTS OFF SOLDIERS

Federal Commission Rules That All Free Copies be Discontinued to Save Paper

Ever since the first Sierra Madre boys joined the colors last year, the News has made it a practice to place each soldier and sailor whose address could be secured on the mailing list to receive the News regularly. No charge was made, it being done with keenest pleasure by the publisher of the News as a slight indication of appreciation for what the boys were doing.

That this means of keeping in touch with home was appreciated by the boys was fully proven by the many letters of cordial thanks received from the boys. Some have been published, and many were purely personal and bore strict injunction against publication.

But that free list must stop, according to a recent ruling of the Federal Trade commission. To conserve paper, all newspapers are ordered to cut out all free copies, even the time honored exchange list.

The publisher would gladly continue sending the News to the boys, but it is not for him to decide. Accordingly with this issue the sending of the News to the boys on the old terms will be discontinued.

MORE BASEBALL EQUIPMENT WANTED

Buy a Ball or Glove— or Give An Old One—for Balloon School Soldiers

Contributions to the collection of baseballs and paraphernalia for the Balloon School soldiers at Arcadia have been rather slow. There is still a great void in the big wire cage at the News office where the first contributions were deposited by D. C. Ashmore in the hope that more would be contributed toward the entertainment of the boys during their recreation hour at evening. Money contributions are not desired. It is preferred that persons who are willing to donate cash go to one of the stores at which baseball equipment is on sale and procure whatever they feel able and add to the collection in the big cage.

MRS. W. W. FELGATE PASSES AWAY

Mrs. W. W. Felgate passed away on Tuesday after a long illness, at the family home on West Highland Ave. Funeral services were held on Thursday at the Undertaking parlors of A. T. Gay. The remains were laid to rest in the Sierra Madre cemetery. The impressive services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Cornell.

The passing of Mrs. Felgate brings sorrow to a large number of friends who held her in high esteem. She was a native of Sweden and had been a resident of the United States for fifteen years. Eight years ago she was married to Mr. Felgate and a little son, William Edward, is left to comfort his bereaved father. Mrs. Felgate was a member of the First Congregational church and possessed a most lovable character. Her taking off in the prime of her womanhood is a great loss to her family and to all who knew her.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Gray spent Wednesday at Santa Monica with Mrs. Charles Beall.

RECORD AGAINST CONGRESSMAN'S CRITICS

In the following communication addressed to the citizens of the Ninth Congressional District by Congressman Charles H. Randall he discredits the honesty of purpose on the part of some of his opponents in their attacks upon his war record and ask his friends not to believe all they hear derogatory to his conduct in office until it is confirmed by reference to the public record.

Many letters have reached me from friends in California saying that I ought to pay some attention to the statements which opposing candidates and newspapers are making against my war record in congress, and suggesting my presence there during the campaign.

To all such I have replied that my duty as a public official keeps me here, and I do not intend to forsake it, even if my election is thereby placed in jeopardy.

To those who place any confidence in assertions made on the stump by political patriots, who are more anxious to win the election than the war, I invite attention to the message sent to California by Hon. Champ Clark, speaker of the house of representatives:

Washington, D. C., July 8, 1918.—I hope that no one in California will be deceived by opponents of Mr. Randall in the coming election, who claim he has voted against war measures. He has earnestly and consistently supported the war program of the administration ever since war was declared, and he has loyally stood by the present organization of the house of representatives.

CHAMP CLARK.

There is only one campaign going on in this country just now—the campaign to win the war. The flock of candidates in my district who would build themselves up by tearing down the character of another, may be patriotic, but it is a political patriotism. No man should be elected to congress unless he is 100 per cent American, and a political slanderer is not 100 per cent American, but only a camouflaged American.

Even President Wilson does not oppose a man who was against war, for he has asked Henry Ford to take a seat in the United States senate. The president has himself prescribed the acid test of the loyalty of a congressman to his vote, not on the war resolution, but upon the McLemore resolution and the Armed Neutrality bill. Upon these I voted with the president before war was declared, and I have voted for every military measure without exception when recommended by the president, since war was declared.

A mass convention of candidates and their friends recently held at Alhambra, condemned by resolution what they characterized as "the action of Chas. H. Randall in voting against the declaration of war with the Imperial German government, after Germany had without provocation, repeatedly and ruthlessly made war upon the United States by firing upon and destroying American ships and by killing American citizens upon the high seas."

Well, to be historically correct, long after the Lusitania went down at the barbarous hand of Germany, and poor little Bel-

GENERAL INCREASE IN RATES ASKED

Edison Company Now Petitions For Upward Revision of Its Schedules

In asking the state railroad commission for a general increase in its electric rates, the Southern California Edison Co., does not specify the extent of the advance desired. The request is: "That the railroad commission authorize the applicant to make such increase in its rates for electricity as the commission may deem proper."

A statement attached to the application sets forth that as the result of high operating, the shortage of water power and other reasons, the company's operating revenues are not adequate at existing rates to maintain service at maximum efficiency, and enable it to perform the public service required of it.

The territory in which the Southern California Edison Co., is engaged in the production, generation, transmission and delivery of electricity for light, heat and power, and which is covered by the applicant, includes the counties of Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange, Ventura, Kern, Tulare and Fresno.

While refraining from discussing the application which is now in the hands of the state regulating body, President W.A. Brackenridge said:

"Practically every utility in the state has found it necessary to apply to the state railroad commission for increase in its rates on account of the conditions brought about by the war. The Southern California Edison Company has not made application before this, having waited until such time as it could definitely what the shortage of water and the increased cost of fuel oil, labor and supplies would have upon its finances. Among the large utilities to which the commission has granted higher rates are the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., of San Francisco, the largest gas and electric corporation in the state, and the Great Western Power Company.

"Notwithstanding the fact that the company, by interconnection with the San Joaquin Light & Power Co., the Mt. Whitney Power & Electric Co., and the Southern Sierras Power Co., has used water which during other years had not been used, the wartime increases in production and distribution accumulated in so much greater proportion that additional revenues are essential, as stated in our application."

PROPER TREATMENT OF AMERICAN FLAG

Answers to Some Questions Which Often Puzzle Good Citizens

While the United States Army and Navy have very strict codes of flag etiquette for all occasions there is no official code covering the use of the American flag in civilian life, except a few things such as printing on the flag or using it for advertising.

In order that no one may even unintentionally or unwittingly show the slightest disrespect for the national emblem or mistreat it in any way, the following rules of "flag etiquette" have been prepared by the National Committee on Patriotic Societies in Washington:

When the colors are passing the spectator, if a man, should halt if walking, arise if sitting, and uncover, holding the head-dress opposite the left shoulder with the right hand; if bare-headed he should salute with the right hand. A woman should stand at attention as the flag passes by. When a flag is waving from a stationary flagstaff or pole it is not saluted with the hand.

In decorating, the flag should never be festooned or draped, but always hung flat. If hung with stripes horizontal, union should be in upper left corner. If hung with stripes perpendicular, the union should be in the upper right corner.

When the flag is carried in parade, or when crossed with other flags, the Stars and Stripes should always be at the right.

The law specifically forbids the use of and representation of the flag in any manner or in any connection with merchandise for sale.

The flag should be raised at sunrise and lowered at sunset. It should not be displayed on stormy days or, except when under fire of the enemy, left out over night. Although there is no authoritative ruling compelling civilians to lower the flag at sundown, good taste should impel them to follow the traditions of the army and navy in this sundown ceremonial.

On Memorial Day the flag is displayed at half-mast from sunrise until noon, and at the peak from noon until sunset.

The flag should, on being retired, never be allowed to touch the ground.

When "The Star Spangled Banner" is played or sung, uncover, stand, and remain standing until it is finished. Be silent except when joining in the singing. Applause at the conclusion is out of place.

Wornout and useless flags should be destroyed by burning, privately.

When a flag is flown at half-mast it should be first run to the point from which it is to fly. Before retiring it should again be run to the top of the staff and then be brought down.

The length of the flag should be one and nine-tenths its width, although few flags on the market conform to these proportions. The length of the union should be three-fourths the height of the whole flag, and its height should be the width of seven stripes.

The following is called the national flag salute, (also known as the oath of allegiance): "I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the republic for which it stands; one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Another flag salute commonly used is: "I give my head and my heart to God and my country; one country, one language, one flag."

While Mr. Flowers is a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress, the address of Tuesday night is said to be entirely non-political.

GERMANS TRAINED DOGS FOR WAR THIRTY YEARS AGO

It is not far short of thirty years since the Germans began to train dogs for outpost service in time of war; we have our opinion as to the value of such training, but one must give credit where it is due, and even in that direction it was a case of making preparations in good time and being first in the field. The early experiments were made at Lublin and Elsass, and the dogs which were trained were Pomeranians, mostly white in color, though grays were favorites because of their being not so conspicuous when out in the open. It was found that Pomeranians were not dependable; they were all right when at liberty and given what was practically the run of the camp or training school; if chained up or confined they lost their chief characteristics and were rather dangerous. Each dog wore a light metal collar and was provided with a pouch for letters; his education was most carefully attended to.

Some were so clever that they could be backed to smell out a Frenchman or Russian and to know the difference between foreign uniforms and those worn by their own soldiers. By certain sounds and gestures—something on the lines of those used by gundog men just as frequently as the handlers of working sheepdogs—the dog was taught to give his owner notice of his discoveries, and was expected to run from post to post with letters in his pouch as well as to look up the wounded and stragglers of the regiment to which he belonged. The dog always went out with the advance guard, and it was a strange sight to see a German regiment on the march with the dogs behind the band, each looking as important as if he carried the proverbial field marshal's baton in his pouch.

The dogs were always stationed with the outer ring of sentries, and as soon as a stranger was noticed off he went to investigate. A sniff told him all he wanted to know, and back he went to report. Should his handler consider the movements of the stranger at all suspicious the dog was sent to skirt the hedgerows and woods in search of an ambush. Later, a report was written, placed in the pouch and sent to the command office, the dog, of course, being the carrier. The St. Bernard principle of discovering and succoring the wounded and watching by the dead was made part of the training regime. Since those days the whole system has been greatly extended; the training finds occupation for a large number of exceedingly capable men.—London Field.

IDEAL HOME COMMUNITY

Sierra Madre's peculiar charm has been felt and praised by nearly everyone who ever visited or lived here. Many factors combine to make the charm potent—the sense of exaltation in life on the heights; the inspiring views; the invigorating air, kept pure by currents moving continually up and down the foothill slope; the feeling of intimacy with the nearby mountains; the ease with which a love for outdoor life and recreation is gratified; the great variety of available homesites; the conveniences of the city with all the joys of life in the country.

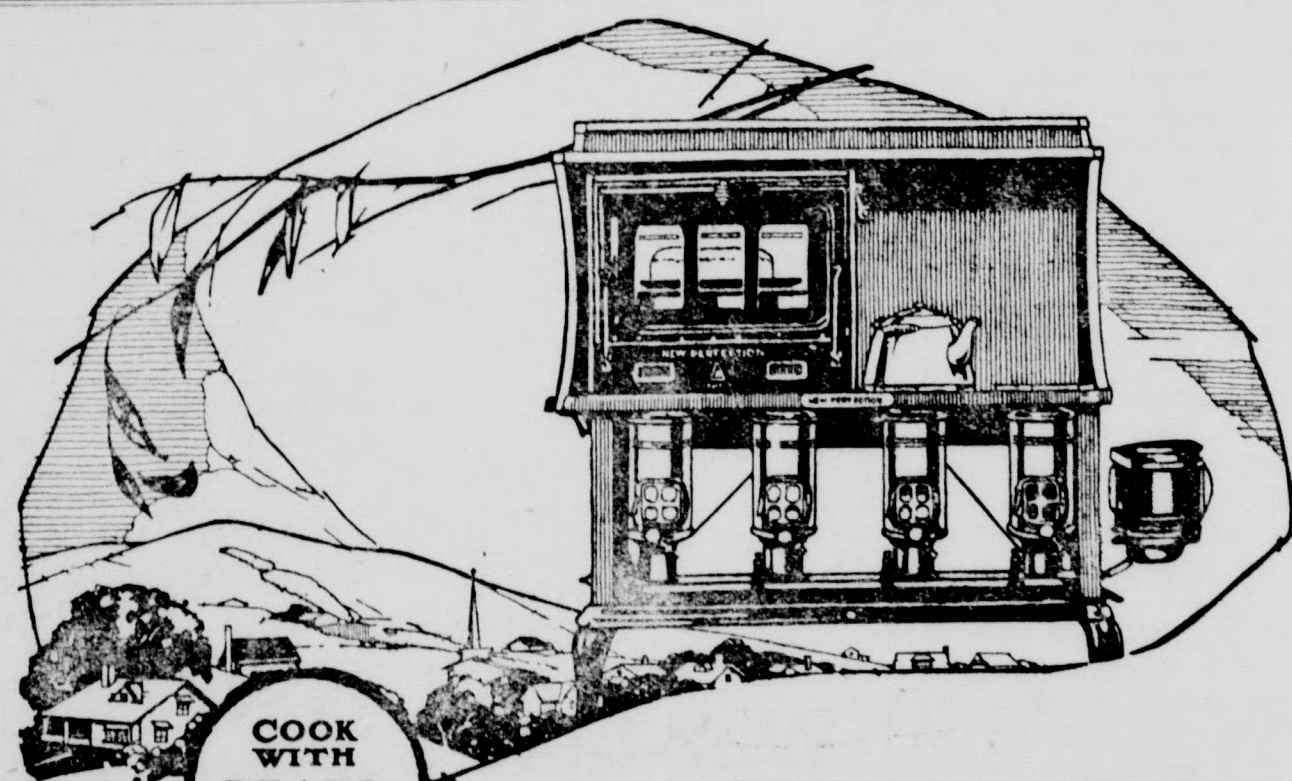

It is as a home community that Sierra Madre claims pre-eminence. Here you can have a small house and lot, a larger place with fruit and a garden plot, or acres with an orchard. Everything grows well here and Sierra Madre has suffered less from frost than any other community in the citrus region.

No community has a higher type of citizenship. Socially and morally Sierra Madre ranks high. There is a cosmopolitan population recruited from all over the world, a fact of keen interest to many people.

"Over the top" a community habit in patriotic efforts.

Many complaints have been made of people buying quantities of sugar ostensibly for canning purposes and then diverting it to table use. Because of these reports a checking system of all purchases, both for household and canning purposes has been established. Every grocer is now compelled to keep a loose leaf record of the names and addresses of all two and five-pound purchasers and mail these reports weekly to the local Food administrator. These will be carefully compared and checked and where it is found that any person has exceeded his or her

All sugar for canning is also being checked and a force of inspectors is now at work in San Francisco, going from house to house, and checking the quantity purchased with the amount of fruits preserved. If it is found that the sugar has been diverted to table or other use and that there cannot be produced sufficient preserved fruit to justify the amount of sugar used, then the purchaser will be vigorously prosecuted. Several violators have already been detected and will be tried shortly. This system of checking is now being extended throughout the state.
